

The English Department Presents: A Time for Evron: Exploring Canadian Children's Literature from an Author's Perspective

Bryan Smillie, B.A., M. Ed.

Author of A Time for Evron; recipient of the Elementary Teachers' Federation of Ontario Writer's Award (2004) and the Canadian Children's Book Centre
Our Choice Award (2003).

Bryan Smillie is a graduate of the University of Western Ontario and the University of Toronto. He is a retired teacher and counselor with over thirty years experience working with young people from kindergarten to pre-college and university. He continues to teach and counsel part-time.

This talk will focus on the creative origins and reception of, the award winning novel A Time for Evron. The author will address such issues as the publication process in Canada, censorship and children's literature, and the therapeutic potential of children's literature.
